PRODUCT: Garnier Fructis Daily Care Fortifying Shampoo

Sometimes less is more when it comes to hair products. I try to use as few products in my hair as I can get away with so as not to weigh it down. Garnier Fructis Daily Care Fortifying Shampoo ($3.99) is a multi tasker that works to strengthen hair and prevent breakage while keeping hair clean and healthy. Between daily styling with blow dryers and flat irons, as well as regular bleaching and dyeing, and exposure to the elements (wind, rain, environmental pollution) our hair endures a lot, whether we know it or not! So if you're like me, you'll understand why I need my shampoo and conditioner to work overtime, therefore limiting the need for products outside the shower.

I'm a big fan of Garnier Fructis products, and Daily Care Fortifying Shampoo doesn't disappoint. It's light enough for everyday use, yet tough enough to get rid of product build up in hair follicles. I like that it's loaded with vitamins to nourish and protect, and it has a fruity banana smell to it that makes me want to constantly sniff my own locks.

So if your hair goes through a lot (and whose doesn't?!), add the Daily Care Fortifying Shampoo by Garnier Fructis to your shower repertoire and you will notice healthier, shinier locks no matter what type or length of hair you have.
