We were thrilled last month when Kelly Clarkson excitedly revealed (http://www.pixable.com/article/kelly-clarkson-is-pregnant-56043?t_cat=41&tracksrc=SMTWNON0&utm_medium=social&utm_source=twitter&sr_share=twitter) — on stage, no less! — that she's pregnant with her second child.

Kelly and her husband, Brandon Blackstock, have always discussed wanting a big family, but it turns out pregnancy has been a bit rough (<http://www.eonline.com/news/716922/kelly-clarkson-talks-about-pregnancy-complications-i-have-to-get-ivs-and-fluids-because-i-get-so-dehydrated>) on the “American Idol” songstress.

Kelly was interviewed on “CBS This Morning \(http://www.cbsnews.com/news/kelly-clarkson-talks-dreams-music-career-and-growing-family/\)” and host Gayle King asked her how her pregnancy is going. Kelly quipped: “I’m familiar with all-day sickness. I have to get IVs and fluids because I get so dehydrated. It’s really bad.”

Kelly had a similar time when pregnant with her daughter River Rose back in 2013, so we’re bummed to hear she’s still struggling this time around.

Kelly Clarkson Discusses Her Wedding and Her Pregnancy!

As she told Ellen in 2013, “I’m not even kidding. It’s so bad. It’s so bad. It’s, like, so gross. And that’s the thing, too: You’re not attractive when you’re pregnant. Everybody tells you [that] you glow and your hair is pretty and your nails are pretty. That is total crap. My nails are short, my hair still falls out—it’s not all lush and beautiful—and I have no glow. Unless it’s, like, something left over from a bad throw up. It’s horrible.”

Here’s hoping things get easier for Kelly soon!
